CONSOLIDATED WATER COMPANY

The Concern Apparently Insolvent.
What It Represents—An Opportunity for Glendale

The Consolidated Water Company of Glendale is evidently about to go out of business, and, considering the kind of business some of its managers have been doing, its passing need not be a matter of much regret; there is, indeed, a possibility of the community being the gainer when its affairs are finally wound up. A few years ago the company acquired certain water stock and water rights in Verdugo Canyon by purchasing of individual owners of land to which the same was appurtenant their interests, paying for the same at the rate of $13 a share (ten-thousandth) in the Consolidated Company's bonds, of which there was an issue of over half a million dollars, the original owners accepting the bonds at par. In a few cases good money was paid, but these were the exception. The majority of those who disposed of their water stock and rights were citizens of Tropic, who, having formed the Tropic Water Company, considered that, as that company supplied their needs, they no longer had use for anything else in that line. But after a course of litigation the Tropic Water Company was absorbed by the Consolidated. Residents in the Childs Tract in Glendale had also formed the Childs Tract Reservoir Company which in turn was transformed into the "Independent Water Company," which was later absorbed by the Consolidated, and the process of securing shares and water rights was successfully repeated, the people of that section being also loaded down with bonds. The Consolidated Company has evidently been doing a good business for the last few years, but a recent statement furnished the Glendale Board of Trustees makes them appear to be really losing money. One of the assets which is acknowledged in the statement is the possession of about thirty inches of Verdugo Canyon water, upon which they put a valuation of $3,000 an inch, rather high, as it is dry times. The company has allowed the interest on its bonds to go unpaid for the last two years. Just why this has been done may be surmised, although to the public unknown, but there have been a number of bonds sold as low as fifteen cents on the dollar. It will be seen that if this water stock was bought for $13 a share, and the bonds bought back for fifteen cents on the dollar, the latter price is about $2.00, which indicates that on the final transaction, somebody gets Verdugo Canyon water at about $150 an inch assuming that the average flow in the canyon is 150 inches. The discrepancy between $150 and $2.00 is evident, even to the uneducated mind. In the settlement between the Tropic Water Company and the Consolidated about 1,000 shares of Verdugo Canyon stock was conveyed in trust to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company which institution also holds a large quantity of the company's bonds. It is now stated that the trust company is about to advertise for sale the property of the Consolidated which it holds, for the protection of the bond holders. The holdings of the Consolidated in Verdugo Canyon water are supposed to be about 1,000 shares; a similar amount is represented by the Tropic Water Company's shares held by the Trust Company. This represents about one-fifth of the water of the canyon. It looks as if circumstances were shaping for the advantage of Glendale and Tropic in this matter, for if this water can be purchased for a fair price, the opportunity to secure it should not be passed by. It should belong to the city of Glendale, or to the combined cities of Glendale and Tropic. Municipal ownership of the water supply is the solution of the water question in this vicinity, and there should be no waste of gray matter in discussing the Owens River supply, for the means of distributing it would cost about as much as the water rights in Verdugo Canyon mentioned in this article.

Mrs. Walter Stamps of 1306 Lomita avenue gave a beautifully planned luncheon party on Wednesday at high noon. Pink Dorothy Perkins roses were used as floral decorations and pink shaded candles cast a soft glow over the pretty scene. The May day idea was carried out as far as possible, many of the courses being served in tiny May baskets. Pink bon-bon boxes formed individual favors. Covers were laid for Mrs. Scott Williamson, Mrs. S. L. Gillan, Mrs. Percy Tyler and Miss Margaret Gillan.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC.

A happy crowd of twenty-six young people comprising the Presbyterian Sunday school classes of Mr. Elmer B. Riggs and Miss Ruth Byram, found their way into Sycamore Canyon Saturday evening where they held a moonlight picnic in honor of Miss Leeta McCoy who will soon leave for a six months' visit in the eastern states, and Miss Ruth Paulus, who will return to her home in Ohio after two years spent in Glendale. After a delicious picnic supper, a marsh-mallow toast over a camp fire was enjoyed, followed by various forms of amusement. The chaperones of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Riggs and Miss Ruth Byram. The entire party returned home at a late hour, tired but happy.

The Mitchell Automobile Co. in Los Angeles, informs its agent, Mr. Witt, that the company is erecting a building on the corner of Twelfth and Flower, which it is claimed will be the finest building for a similar purpose in the city.

CITY TRUSTEES

New Proposition for Furnishing City Electricity—Possibility of Street Along Childs Tract Line

All members present except Mr. White. Mr. P. A. C. Moore appeared before the board on behalf of the Verdugo Pipe and Reservoir with a plea for further time in which to comply with ordinance requiring covering of reservoir. On motion the company was given three weeks more time in which to begin work. In regard to protest against the establishment of a manufacturing business on Isabel street between Second and Third, Mr. J. D. Robinson appeared as owner of the property and explained that the proposed business is one that can be carried on in a residence district without being a nuisance and presented samples of the material used and the finished product. Referred to committee of the whole to be brought up next week. The city attorney reported the bond of the treasurer for $25,000 as being regular and same was approved.

The manager of the electric light department stated that the contract of the Pacific Light & Power Co. for electricity at 2.8 per kilowatt expires November next; that the Pacific Light & Power Co. have offered to sign a new contract at a price of 2 cents per kilowatt for a term of years if made at the present time, but that when the Los Angeles aqueduct power plant is completed the current can be obtained for one cent a kilowatt. It was decided that no contract be entered into at this time. The supply committee had eighteen chairs in sets of two in the room for inspection, price $4.00, color light; the board was instructed to procure same style of chairs in dark color. Mr. E. M. McClure appeared before the board and presented an affidavit showing the number of copies printed of "Glendale, the Jewel City," and suggested that the copies purchased by the city be distributed at Shriners' convales in Los Angeles in May and at the Glendale May Festival. Mr. McClure was duly authorized to make the distribution.

It was moved and carried at this point that when the board adjourn it be to meet Thursday evening, May 2, and take up the matter of securing a portion of the city preparatory to the revision of the city charter. A number of the board were referred to the following: Mr. J. P. Shropshire has sold six lots on Glendale avenue on the east side between Third and Fourth streets, to Mr. David J. Graham of Los Angeles. It is understood that the consideration was about $1500 a lot. Mrs. Mabel L. Tigh has bought the G. B. Mock place on Everett street between Third and Fourth streets and intends to erect two apartment houses on the property. Mr. S. H. Borthick has purchased one-third interest in the Stepper tract on Central avenue south of Fourth street, consisting of about five acres. The property will be subdivided. Borthick Bros. report the following sales: Lot on Orange street between Fifth and Sixth streets to G. A. Lobden of Orangeburg, Mo. for $950. Dr. Hedges of Warrensburg, Mo. has bought two lots on Chestnut street between Central and Brand, also two on Seventh street in the same neighborhood. Dr. Hedges will probably build in the fall. He is president of the Commercial Bank in his home town. J. Farmer of Kansas City is building a 2-story, 7-room house on the corner of Lomita and Central. The Valley Lumber Co. is beginning work on a one-story brick building on Broadway corner of Maryland which will furnish three store rooms 18 by 50. It is understood that Mesdames Smith and Miller the milliners will occupy the corner store on the west side, the center space will be occupied by the lumber company and the other by Mr. Upham the sewing machine man.

Mrs. C. H. Eudemiller has purchased a lot, corner of Fifth and Brand, and is planning the erection of a business block there in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Morrison and Mrs. Edna Williamson, recently of Porterville, enjoyed the past week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clement of North Glendale.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

On April 30 the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club was entertained by one of its officers, Mrs. P. S. McNutt. In the early morning the commodious automobile of one member carried the "section" through the fragrant orchards to that Belvidere in the foothills. Each member carried occupation for the hand as well as the mind, and hardly had the last entered the gate ere the first was ensconced on an inviting bench, plying the needle.

A lively discussion took place under the trees, the author of the day being Hermann Luderma. Three plays were touched upon, "The Joy of Living" receiving the greater attention.

The next author under discussion will be D'Annunzio. The section will meet at the home of Mrs. T. H. Mertens, 1455 Hawthorne street, on the third Tuesday in May.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

On Thursday the 25th, Mr. Wm. Barnett was surprised on his birthday at his home at 106 West Fourth street, by a company of friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Gilmore and little son Howard from Los Angeles. Glendale guests were Mr. and Mrs. Budway, Mr. and Mrs. Melver and children, James and Elizabeth, Mr. Lee D. Trifol and Miss R. M. Sherer. Others were invited but could not be present. The decorations were poppies, roses, lilies, carnations, orange blossoms. A fine collection of birthday cards sixty in number were received. Refreshments of cake and fruitade were served.

I. O. O. F. PICNIC.

Between sixty and seventy Odd Fellows and their families took advantage of the through car to Long Beach on Friday last, and joined in the good time that the Odd Fellows of Southern California had prepared in honor of the 93rd birthday anniversary of the order. The car left Glendale about 8:30 a. m., and every one enjoyed the entire day, many not willing to tear themselves away until the last dance was over in the evening. Thousands of people thronged the pavilion on the pier to listen to the speaking which was very interesting. Mr. Barnes as orator of the day delivered a very fine address and "brought down the house" at times with his witty sayings that mingled with the more serious parts of his speech.

About 12:30 every one adjourned for luncheon, and many a jolly crowd was gathered about the tables to enjoy the tempting lunches that were served. There was no lack of good hot coffee, too, merely for the asking, and to which ample justice was given. The parade of the afternoon was a very striking feature of the day, and both the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs presented a fine appearance. After the parade there was another ceremony, that of conferring the degree of Chivalry on a number of Rebekahs, the work of this ceremony was very impressive and was witnessed by thousands. After this the crowd enjoyed themselves in a way to their individual liking until the dance for the evening. This part of the day's amusement proved the drawing card for an unusually large crowd of both old and young, the greater number of whom staid until the musicians were gone.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

Mr. J. P. Shropshire has sold six lots on Glendale avenue on the east side between Third and Fourth streets, to Mr. David J. Graham of Los Angeles. It is understood that the consideration was about $1500 a lot.

GLENDAL, CAL., MAY 3, 1912

The Sierra Madre News has issued a special edition which is without exception the best thing of the kind we have ever seen. It is full of artistic pictures of Sierra Madre scenes and scenery, nearly all made from photographs taken by the editor, Mr. G. B.
Morgridge.

The Tropico Sentinel is coming around to our point of view, but by a different process of reasoning. It still longs for alliance with Los Angeles, but sees in the Owens river water a luxury made unattainable by the price.
Come in, Brother Burch, the water of Verdugo Canyon is fine!

In 1908 John D. Works, now U. S. senator, published in a magazine a scathing criticism of Theodore Roosevelt, then president. He charged the latter with having precipitated the panic of that year. The article is an able one, and the following is only one of the many quotable extracts:

"This tendency of the president to denounce those who do not agree with him has led him into many indiscretions and his arbitrary methods, his lack of restraint, and determination to have his own way have made him a conspicuous example of the danger to our institutions of unchecked and uncontrolled power, intended to bring both the legislative and judicial departments into his way of thinking and thus accomplish his ends."

Previous to the time these words were written, the expressions of Mr.
Roosevelt had been mild in comparison with his more recent utterances, and in regard to the courts have differed diametrically from the expressed ideas of Senator Works. Since the latter became a representative of the faction of the party that put him in power he has apparently permitted them to make his opinions for him; otherwise he could not now be supporting Roosevelt.

The political sensation of the week has been the verbal duel between President Taft and our ex-president.
In vim and viciousness the latter easily had the best of it, but in presentation of the stern logic of facts the president is an easy victor. Like the gentleman that he is, he refused to call his opponents names, but proceeded in a calmly judicial manner to prove him well qualified for leadership in the Ananias Club. The assertion made by the ex-president that Mr. Taft was present at a cabinet meeting and agreed to or even recommended postponement of prosecution of the harvester trust is proved by the president to be untrue when he quotes the record of dates showing that the latter was not in Washington at the time, but was enroute to the Philippines.
The speech of the president delivered at Boston in which he defends himself against charges made by Roosevelt and his followers, is a complete defense, refuting in detail all of the eleven familiar charges made against the president and his administration. Had Mr. Taft struck back sooner he would greatly have strengthened his position before the people.
It does not pay to be a gentleman in politics.

LIGHT ON ELECTION EXPEN- DITURES.

Illuminating information in regard to primary election expenditures comes from New York where the law requires the filing of a statement of expenses incurred. The Republican county committee expended $5,585.64 which was contributed by the Taft League. The Roosevelt League collected $59,200. Taft received over 30,000 votes, so that the expenditures in his interest amounted to about 16 cents a vote. Roosevelt received approximately 15,000 votes, at a cost of nearly $4.00 each.

Geo. W. Perkins, an officer of the steel trust contributed to the Roosevelt fund $15,000; Frank A. Munsey, also a steel trust man, gave up the same amount. Alex Cochran, the largest stockholder in the largest carpet factory in America (interested in wool tariff), was a contributor, as were also R. P. Perkins and A. Foster Higgins, two other carpet manufacturers, who contributed $1000 each. Details have not been received as to Pennsylvania; but the expenditure of money in the neighborhood of Pittsburgh by the Roosevelt committee, has probably never been equalled in a political campaign. Mr. Roosevelt is fortunate in having a large circle of millionaire friends who are backing him with unstinted liberality.

WHAT WILL THEY DO WITH IT?

The city of Los Angeles is face to face with a serious proposition brought about by its ambition to secure a large water supply not only far in excess of its immediate requirements, but of which it does not at present require a single drop. Twenty thousand inches of water is the amount that is expected to arrive here in the aqueduct within a year. It is probable that the amount will be much less, but such as it is, the city has no place to put it. The attempt to force outside communities to buy it whether needed or not, is proving a failure. Of the thirty or forty small municipalities near to the city which it is proposed to annex and make pay for this expensive project, there are not half a dozen (possibly none) willing to be absorbed and loaded down with a proportion of the bonded indebtedness which the aqueduct represents. And yet the Los Angeles papers represent every one of these cities as anxious to get in and pay the price! There is just one place where the water can be made available within a short time after its arrival, and that is upon the tillable lands of the San Fernando valley. It would seem to be the part of wisdom in the Los Angeles water commissioners to offer this water to that section at once on just such terms (temporarily) as it can get. Water mains and ditches over a large territory cannot be laid or constructed in a day nor a week and it is imperatively necessary that the matter be settled soon and the work of preparing for distribution begun. Ambition is an excellent virtue, but the ruling statesmen of Los Angeles have exhibited a tendency to do certain things and then think about them afterwards.

"GLITTERING GENERALITIES."

"We should so shape conditions that a fortune shall be obtained only in such fashion that its gaining represents benefit to the community."

"We maintain that the wealthy man holds his wealth subject to the general right of the community to regulate its business use as the public welfare requires."

The above extracts are not taken from "Merrie England" or any other Socialist text book, but are quotations from the speeches of an ex-president of the United States now seeking a third term. As a fine example of that particular kind of sophistry known as a "glittering generality," the above are as good as can be found anywhere.
They are statements well calculated to please the ear of a sympathetic listener who does not trouble himself to analyze them and believes them valuable because of their surface indications.
But tested by any practical application they are found to mean nothing at all and the attempt to imagine any possible way of applying them to our daily life, ends in utter bewilderment, for who can say with any approach to finality that a fortune dug out of the earth or inherited from one who has no further use for it, or gained in any manner whatever, is or is not a "benefit to the community?" Or what shall be the particular sum that constitutes a "fortune?" To the Weary Willies of the dusty road, a well filled can and a place to sleep is a fortune, but who shall say that even that when acting as a mere encouragement to idleness is of benefit to the community?

And the second quotation is like unto it. If it means anything at all, it means that all wealth shall be held in common, for no man can carry on business and have it carried on at the same time by the community. The popularity of such expressions as the above can only demonstrate the mental degeneracy of a people. They mean absolutely nothing, and when used by men who assume to be leaders of thought are indicative of a dangerous insincerity.

THE MATTER OF "BOILER PLATE."

A virtuous contemporary objects to the use of journalistic "boiler plate" partly because it "is printed at government expense." The reason is good and sufficient, the government should not do anything of the kind; when the GLENDAL NEWS uses "boiler plate" it should print it at its own expense—there, now! But we fear that our contemporary does not know "boiler plate." He evidently con-founds it with armor plate, stuff about four feet thick, which is glued on to the side of a war vessel for the enemy to try and puncture. Journalistic boiler plate is an entirely different matter; it is rarely more than three feet thick and does not weigh more than ten pounds to the inch. Instead of being stuck on to the sheet with glue it is double-riveted to an inside page, usually the editorial page, under the mistaken idea as we really believe that it adds weight to editorial utterances. Boiler plate has been banned by the Hague Conference on the ground of its variable inconsistency of character, scientific observation extending over a period and several commas of years has determined the fact that the stuff is good if you use it yourself, but bad medicine when found attached to a contemporary.

There was once an editor without a conscience and no moral character to speak of who during a political campaign fed his readers on boiler plate to the point of acute indigestion. One of them in retaliation got the editor in a corner and tried to make him "eat his words," but the wily scribe saved his life by proving that the words were not his at all and while his constituent was trying to force him to swallow them anyway, he was struck dead by an idea emanating from the editor who was accustomed to throwing them off now and then in self protection, a fact which his assailant did not know, being only a common citizen. Our "Reform" editor has been instructed to take this matter up with Col. Roosevelt and our contemporary is assured that the government boiler plate factory will receive its instructions at once.

SOCIALISM.

Ten Reasons Why I Am a Socialist.
First. I am a socialist because I am progressive. The law of evolution has brought the world to the threshold of a new industrial era. We cannot go back to the hand tools and simple methods of our grandparents of producing wealth. This is an age of steam, electricity and machinery. We must readjust our industrial system so that it may fit the new order of things.
Stagnation is stagnation, it is degeneracy, it is death. Socialism is progression, it is evolution, it is life.
Second. The human family has made greater progress the past sixty years than had been made in three hundred years previous to 1850. Every class of people have been greatly benefited, except the working people.

They, too, have reaped some benefits, but are still largely slaves to the plutocrats who exploit them. The wage slave is not so well provided for as the negro slave. The owner of the negro was required, by law, to feed, clothe, shelter, and in case of sickness, to provide for his chattel.
Not so with the wage slave. When he is worn out, aged or crippled, he is cast out to beg, steal or starve. Now one worker, by the aid of machinery, produces as much wealth as fifty workers could create sixty years ago, but while the wealth of the world has increased enormously, the workers who create all wealth receive but about one-fifth of what they produce. The speculator, the stock waterer, the interest gatherer, the profit taker, the capitalist, gets about four-fifths of it, and that too without returning an equivalent therefor. In the United States we produce, annually, two and a half billions ($2,500,000,000) more than we consume. Instead of sending across the ocean to market, Socialists propose a system of honest distribution which would give to the worker the full value of his labor, thus enabling him to buy back this surplus.

Third. In 1850, the producers owned 62 1/2 per cent of the total wealth of the country, the non-producers owned 37 1/2 per cent. In 1911, the producers owned but ten per cent of the total wealth; forty-five thousand capitalists own more property than half the inhabitants of the country; fifty-two per cent of the people are born into poverty; two millions of children are worked like slaves in the mills and factories; ten millions of working people do not have enough to eat; sixty thousand girls—children of the working classes—are annually forced into prostitution to live, and two millions of marriageable young men remain unmarried because they know they cannot, as wage earners, receive enough to enable them to marry and assume the responsibility of supporting a wife and children; therefore houses of assignment are multiplying; homes are being broken up, family life is disappearing, and the fear of race suicide is spreading. Socialists prove by irrefutable statistics that this alarming condition of things is due to our industrial system of competition which does not fit this new age of machinery —a system of competition which has permitted a few shrewd men to acquire the private ownership of the machinery and other means of creating wealth, and to pile up mountains of unearned riches, while the millions of workers are in hopeless poverty. Moreover, they clearly show that if our industrial system is not readjusted, this nation, as well as other civilized countries, will, at no distant day, be plunged into a bloody revolution. Socialists propose to peacefully change our system of individualism into one of collectivism, or socialism, and thus prevent impending riots and war.

They propose to inaugurate a system of public ownership of the principal means of production and distribution, to be conducted democratically—a system under which every able-bodied adult will be required to work with head or hand, in some industry suitable to his skill and physical condition, in harmony with rules wisely framed and in departments at the head of which are competent and worthy managers or superintendents, and all workers shall receive the full value of their labor.

Fourth. Owing to the monstrously unfair system of distribution of the wealth produced in the United States, the working people find it almost impossible to live that since 1850 crime has increased 600 per cent and insanity 700 per cent; suicides have doubled in number, millions of business men and others, honestly disposed, have been driven into dishonest practices, hence we have shoddy goods, short weights and measures, adulterated foods and medicines, and lying and cheating in every department of business. We have defalcations, grafting, perjury, bribery, election frauds, swindling and a loss of confidence in the integrity of every one for his fellow man. Socialism would change all this by establishing a cooperative commonwealth founded on "equal opportunities to all, special privileges to none." By abolishing the competitive system of business, eliminating interest, rents and profits, and guaranteeing to every worker the full value of his toil, all the evils above mentioned would vanish like a fog before the morning sun.
My remaining six reasons will be seen next week.

TALK
A ten-year-old boy came home from school the other day and exhibited with more or less pride a piece of gunny sacking in which he had embroided a sofa pillow design. "Great Scott!" I was impelled to exclaim.
"What kind of a molly coddle will the male citizen of the future be if he has to master a few more feminine accomplishments?" Why, any day we may look to see the young men of the future spending his school hours in painting china and knitting, for already he is doing crochet work very nicely, thank you! A generation or two ago before the world had attained to the supernatural wisdom of today, going to school meant work, real mental and physical exercise; the alphabet had to be memorized, the sounds of the letters learned and two or more of them put together in the making of a word by a young man who was that early taught to reason. Now the youngster of tender years sits in the school room idle and absorbs knowledge through his pores. He learns to spell by sight, a process which assures his escape from that tired feeling which comes from over-exertion of the intellect while the brain is plastic.
Every appliance which will help him to acquire knowledge without exertion is at his command. If the school house is half a mile away the fond parents will exert themselves to get one erected near at hand so that the dear little Hope of the Future may not overexert himself in attaining to the Temple of Knowledge! Verily, it is an interesting old world, more so than any of the others that we know about. We get impressions out of the atmosphere instead of forming opinions by the process of reasoning and we crystallize them into a vote. The mothers of the Spartan boys trained them in hardships; they slept upon boards, were scantily clad and ate the plainest food in measured quantities.

The mothers of today work themselves to the end if need be to save their offspring from being deprived of the passing fancy of their heart's desire; and hence the crochet work, the embroided gunny sacking, the skillful needlework of the future man!

Are your eyes open to the beauty of the spring, my dear? Note you the innumerable shades of green on the surrounding hills, the valleys and trees and shrubbery near at hand?
Against the blue sky are banded the purple mountains, the eucalyptus tree is foliaged in a dark shade of green that fairly contrasts with the light green of the willow. The wild grass is of one shade and the young barley of another. The mustard adds its contribution of greenness to the picture and throws in here and there a splash of yellow blossom, modest now but giving promise of future wealth of bloom. In the orchard trees, grapevines and shrubbery, every separate tree and vine has an individual beauty of its own. The camphor tree has a crown that shines like burnished gold; the young leaf of the grape vine is one of the most delicately beautiful things in nature, it glistens with the glory of green and red and the varying shades that run between. When we turn to the flowers we find a more obtrusive beauty that does not shrink from our gaze, but with proper acknowledge of their great mission in the world, hold up their heads to be admired. Spring is the season of beauty and bright hopes. It is the time of promise; we sow our seed and reap a beautiful harvest in anticipation. Hail to the spring!

But, lest you and I should quarrel Listen to my little carol;
Go and toss it in the barrel, Neighbor mine.

Look—when'er you drop a paper,
Neighbor mine.
In the wind it cuts a caper,
Neighbor mine.
Down the street it madly courses,
And shall fill you with remorse When you see it scare the horses, Neighbor mine.

Let's not have the fact escape us.

And, if you will lend a hand, Soon our city dear shall stand As the cleanest in the land,

The Mission Play auditorium at San Gabriel, in which John S. McGroarty's spectacular historical pageant will be presented for the first time, Monday, April 29th, is one of the most unique and beautiful playhouses in the world. It was designed and built under the personal supervision of Henry Kabler, director of the Mission Play.

Conforming, as it natural, to the architecture of the Mission period of California, the Mission Play auditorium has the appearance of one of the grand old buildings which marked El Camino Real as it lead its splendid course northward up the California Coast from San Diego to Sonoma. Facing it across the old causeway is San Gabriel Mission, and from all exterior appearances the auditorium might be a detached portion of the old mission.

A typical mission wall surrounds the plot of land on which the playhouse is built, inside of which is a spacious patio, leading into the main building, access to which is gained by broad steps, sheltered by a red-tiled canopy. Time-worn doors open into the lobby, from which the floor slopes to the front of the house. The building is 80x150 feet over all. There is a stage 45x65 feet, the largest covered stage west of Chicago, and one of the largest in the world. The house will seat 1050 people, and each seat will have a perfect view of the stage, as no pillars intervene.

Unique and strangely beautiful is the interior finish. The air and feeling of a hallowed mission is apparent, and the decoration and finish carries this out perfectly. Here and there about the walls the bare brickwork is exposed, where the plaster has fallen away, the roof rafters are time-stained, and rusted. There are antique biblical paintings, many worth hundreds of dollars, against the walls, and old Californian, Mexican, and Spanish hangings, pottery, books and other articles lend an historical air to the place.

Splendid old candlesticks mark the corners of the boxes, fitted with huge wax candles, which will burn through each performance, while ranged along a great bookshelf just above the heads of the spectators are others, against which lean old books. Other musty tomes are seen scattered along as though placed there by some bygone student.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Miss Margaret Kelso of Long Beach, but formerly a Glendale resident, has been employed as regular assistant librarian and is filling her position in a most capable and efficient manner. A new, beautifully bound, complete set of Longfellow's works in ten volumes is a valuable addition. Two hundred and fifty of the library's books have returned from the bindery, all newly bound and in splendid condition.

A hundred stereoscopic views of an instructive nature and four stereoscopes have been procured and placed in the children's department. Mrs. Alma Danford, librarian, attended the district association convention of librarians, held at Riverside on Thursday and Friday. Mrs. Danford during this trip also inspected the libraries of Pomona and San Bernardino.

New books to be found on the shelves are complete sets of the works of Shakespeare, Keats, Stockton and Emerson, and a dictionary of authors in two volumes. Others are Poet of Flame, Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary, Sanna, Americans All, Felicity Mother, Gleaners, Bretons, Riders of the Purple Sage, Maid of Whispering Hills, Following of the Star, My Brother's Keeper, Sophomore Co-Ed, Silas Strong, Siege of Seven Sultors, Peter and Wendy, Son of Mary Bethel, Spanish Gold, Story of Clementina, Leaves of Grass, Don Sagato's Daughter, The Boss of Wind River, A Tenderfoot in Southern California, The Breaking Point, The Melting Pot, The Third Circle, The Position of Peggy, Forty Minutes Late, Texas Ranger, The Man Who Cannot Lose, The House in the Hedge, Mother and Daughter, Sweet Nancy, From the Car Behind, The Way of an Eagle, Faith Gartney's Girlhood, Dorothy and the Wizard of Oz, The Land of Oz, The Fairy Ring, Vane of the Timberland, and the Californians.

THE MT. VERDUGO RAILWAY.

The committee is at work on this project and reports progress. Some difficulty has been encountered in securing the right of way, particularly in regard to the property held by Mrs. Bliss at the foot of the mountain, but it is thought that this will soon be arranged satisfactorily. Mr. J. C. Brand, one of the property owners over whose land the proposed road runs in attaining its elevation, has expressed his willingness not only to give the right of way but some land in addition.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

We expect to have charge of a grocery store one day very soon, proceeds to go towards purchasing a building lot. Notice of time and place in later paper. Hold a "good big" order for this one day.

Can't you see it as I do? If the average voter could be brought to realize his individual responsibility touching the intimate relation existing between his vote and the effects following it, certainly every man or woman with a conscience would never cast a vote for any nominee of any political party that will license sin and perpetuate for a price that which causes death and destruction every day. The news that only recently reached us by wireless telegraphy of the sinking of the great ocean steamer and the loss of several hundred lives shocks us, but we destroy more property and more lives every day by our votes than were swallowed up in the ocean on a recent Sunday in the sinking of this vessel. If this disaster was not the direct result of drink, it is an exception to the rule in such cases. If it was, then every vote cast for a political party that will license drink must bear its part of the responsibility.

It is a principle of law that he who aids or abets a crime is a partner in the crime. We cannot see how the liquor dealer, voter, or anyone who supports the liquor traffic by his vote, can escape himself from the responsibility that attaches to the product of the business.

Anything that produces no good and interferes with the public welfare ought to be destroyed, and we defy the world to prove that this does not fit the liquor traffic. The only way to do away with the evils of the liquor business is to do away with the business. The license party has been in power since 1862. Voting thus for a party, you vote for the liquor traffic, even though you vote for "no saloon" locally, and, voting for it, you assume the responsibility for it, you become a party to it, and, becoming a party to it, you stand convicted of whatever crime, poverty, disaster and death grows out of it. What is good for our town locally is good for our nation. How any Christian or preacher can vote for evil to exist is beyond my comprehension. Sorry we are there are ministers who preach "Thy kingdom come, oh, Lord," and try to save the sinner, and then vote for evil to exist. What influence can such have over a lost soul? We are out for prohibition of the liquor traffic in our town, our county, our state, our nation, and all over the earth.

MRS. HATTIE E. GAYLORD, President.

NEW LABOR BILL A TAFT POLICY

Liability and Compensation Measure Progressive.

JUSTICE IS ITS OBJECT.

President Approves Proposed Legislation Making Federal Labor Laws Fit Modern Conditions—Legal Machinery Simplified.

As the result of the personal interest of President Taft in all matters affecting the workingmen of the country, congress has before it today a comprehensive bill on employers' liability and workmen's compensation which is recognized as one of the most progressive of the many achievements of the Taft administration. The bill was reported by a commission appointed by President Taft pursuant to a joint resolution of congress passed on June 25, 1910, and it was recently sent to congress by the president, accompanied with a message recommending its passage. As drafted the measure provides an exclusive remedy and compensation for accidental injuries resulting in disabilities or death to employees of common carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the District of Columbia.

This comprehensive legislation is the direct outcome of the general unsatisfactoriness of labor legislation passed by congress in recent years and is illustrative of the Taft method of reaching an admitted evil by a painstaking investigation followed by carefully considered laws. As is well known, the first employers' liability law passed in the last administration was declared unconstitutional by the courts. A new law to take its place was passed under this administration, but it was generally understood at the time that the comprehensive measure now before congress was to follow, both as to liability and compensation, as soon as the necessary investigation into the subject could be made. The result is that the workingmen of the United States, so far as they can be reached by federal law, will soon be working under one of the most enlightened labor laws on record.

Provision is made in the bill, as drafted tentatively, that every common carrier engaged in interstate or foreign commerce shall pay compensations in the amounts specified in the bill to any of its employees who sustain personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment and resulting in his disability or to his dependents in case of death.

It is provided in the bill that the injured employee shall have medical attendance and surgical aid when necessary, the last mentioned being limited to $200. The monthly wages of an employee are deemed to be twenty-six times the established day's pay, and $50 is the minimum monthly wage payment. It is also provided that all compensation shall be paid monthly unless computed to a lump sum.

Death benefits are provided for at a specific percentage of the man's wages to be paid to the widow with an increase in the amount when there are dependent children, and in case of no dependents the payment of the burial expenses is required. The matter of personal injury compensation is also covered in a fair and equitable provision.

Another feature of the proposed act is a clear definition of the term "dependent" as well as of what constitutes an "injury" and an "employee." Legal complications are provided for, reports of accidents, payments and operations under the law to the interstate commerce commission are required, and it is declared that the proposed act shall take effect on July 1, 1912, and cited as "the federal compensation act of 1912."

In its investigations of this subject the commission determined at the outset that in substance the doctrines of the common law originating under comparatively simple conditions were unjust as applied to the complex relations of master and servant. The use of complicated machinery, steam and electricity has had the effect of increasing the deplorable antagonism between employer and employee and often giving a few injured employees large and frequently extravagant damages, while the great majority have been left to bear the entire burden without any recompense whatever.

At the time of the adoption of the common law rules of liability industrial conditions were radically different from those of today. The number of employees was smaller because there were few big industrial plants. The business carried on was small in extent, the appliances used in the work consisted largely of hand tools, while the power was simple in character, with little danger to the employees. Under such conditions the rules of common law originated.

Today there is a vast difference. President Taft, in the message which transmitted the report of the commission to congress, aptly says, in speaking of the proposed bill, "that it is one of the great steps of progress toward a satisfactory solution of an important phase of the controversies between employers and employees that have been proposed within the last two or three decades. The old rules of liability under the common law were adapted to a different age and condition and were evidently drawn by men imbued with the importance of preserving the employers from burdensome or unjust liabilities. It was treated as a personal matter of each employee, and the employees were put on a level of dealing which, however it may have been in the past, certainly creates injustice to the employee under the present conditions.

The attention of congress to the great injustice of the present system was called by President Taft. He mentioned the fact that often the recovery of large sums in damage verdicts did not result in actual benefit to the injured person on account of the heavy expenses in litigation. The president expressed the belief that these burdens would disappear with the enactment of the proposed law, since the counsel fees are limited to a reasonable amount.

As further stated by the president, "the great object of the proposed law is to secure justice to the weaker party under existing modern conditions." He also declared that he would use his influence to aid in the enactment of the proposed law before the adjournment of the present session of congress.

ROOSEVELT PRAISED TAFT.

Former President Lauded Successor Before New York Republicans.

One of the most comprehensive endorsements that the Taft administration has ever received was contained in the speech of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the New York Republican state convention at Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27, 1910. The first two paragraphs of the speech were as follows:

"We come here feeling that we have the right to appeal to the people from the standpoint alike of national and state achievement. During the last eighteen months a long list of laws embodying legislation most heartily to be commended as combining wisdom with progress have been enacted by congress and approved by President Taft.

"The amendments to the interstate commerce law, beginning of a national legislative program for the exercise of the taxing power in connection with big corporations doing an interstate business, the appointment of a commission to frame measures that do away with the evils of overcapitalization and of improper and excessive issues of stocks and bonds, the law providing for publicity of campaign expenses, the establishment of the maximum and minimum tariff provisions and the exceedingly able negotiation of the Canadian and other treaties in accordance therewith, the inauguration of the policy of providing for a disinterested revision of tariff schedules through a high class commission of experts which will treat each schedule purely on its own merits with a view to protecting the consumer from excessive prices and to securing the American producer and especially the American wage worker what will represent the difference of cost in production here as compared with the cost of production in countries where labor is less liberally rewarded, the extension of the laws regulating safety appliances for the protection of labor and the creation of a bureau of mines. These and similar laws, backed up by executive action, reflect high credit upon all who succeeded in putting them in their present shape upon the statute books. They represent an earnest of the achievement which is yet to come, and the beneficence and far-reaching importance of this work done for the whole people measure the credit which is rightly due to the congress and to our able, upright and distinguished president, William Howard Taft."

Taft Sure of Nomination.
Up to and including April 12 494 delegates had been elected to the Republican national convention, which meets in Chicago in June. Of these President Taft has 341 instructed for or pledged to his renomination. There remained to be elected on that date 582 delegates. Of these President Taft needs only 198 and Mr. Roosevelt needs 426. In other words, if President Taft gets one out of every three delegates remaining to be elected he will have within four of enough to nominate, while Mr. Roosevelt must have three out of every four of the delegates remaining in order to secure the nomination. That President Taft will have more than 700 delegates at Chicago is a certainty.

FISCAL REFORMS PRODUCE RESULTS

Treasury Department Example of Economical Administration.

EVEN DEMOCRATS APPROVE.

Under Taft Reorganization Accomplished, Frauds Stopped and Law Violators Punished—Divorced From Wall Street.

The treasury department has recently received the commendation of the Democratic appropriation committee of the house of representatives for the results achieved in bringing about economy and efficiency in that department. The general basis of this unusual praise is the fact that it is costing $2,500,000 a year less to run this big business machine of the government than it did three years ago when President Taft began his administration and initiated his campaign for governmental economy by placing an experienced business man, Secretary MacVeagh, at the head of the treasury department.

The Economy Effect.
The amount now saved each year is a 10 per cent reduction in the previous cost. It tells but half the story of the actual economy effected, for there has been a 10 per cent increase in the business of the department during this time, making a total gain in the interest of the taxpayer of 20 per cent.

The eagerness that now exists to make political capital out of criticism makes the fact eminently striking that through this period of investigation and inquiry the treasury department has been found a fruitless field of operation. It has not even been mentioned in connection with the alleged "money trust," for the reason that the treasury department is now for the first time wholly independent of the big bankers of the country in its operations. That the department should always be above the slightest ground for moral criticism is of course one of the fundamentals of its administration.

Frauds Are Punished.
The vigor with which the administration has gone after those who have attempted frauds on the customs revenue is illustrated by the fact that more than $5,000,000 has been collected in fines against dishonest importers and attempted smugglers. Jail sentences in numerous instances have been added to the fines. This result has been the creation of a wholesome respect for the law on the part of importers and Americans who travel in foreign lands. The entire machinery for the collection of customs has been overhauled, with the result that valuations are made more accurately and many channels for frauds have been stopped. One of the special aids in this connection has been the special agents' service, which the secretary has taken personally in hand.

The other collection agency, the internal revenue service, has been brought to a high degree of efficiency. Its collections last year were the highest in its history—$322,000,000—which was collected at the expense of 168-100 cents for each dollar, a substantial decrease in cost. Internal revenue collectors are now giving the major portion of their time to their official duties, an innovation brought about for the first time through the insistence of the president that efficiency of administration was more to be desired than the developing of political machines.

Where Savings Resulted.
Savings in the method of printing the paper money of the country have been made to the extent of $600,000 annually, while similar work in the mints has resulted in cutting down the expenses annually to the extent of $489,000. By using the mails instead of the express a saving of $400,000 a year is effected in sending worn-out notes to the treasury for redemption. Nearly $500,000 a year is being saved through improved methods in handling the paper on which money and postage and internal revenue stamps is printed. A similar amount is being saved through closer scrutiny and economy in printing the stationery for the department. The revenue cutter service adds to the list a saving of $100,000 a year with increased activities, so also does the public health service. There are many more details of savings, all telling the same story.

Genuine Reforms Made.
And this story is the strongest kind of a denial of the charge that President Taft has used the government employee to further his own political advantage. There have been 1,801 unnecessary places abolished under the treasury department in the last three years. Five hundred and forty-two of these have been in the department service in Washington. None of those in Washington whose places were abolished have been separated from the service by that fact. Secretary MacVeagh has rigidly adhered to the policy of saving the vacancies which occurred in the department by resignation and death, and these places have been filled by those who would otherwise have been dropped.

The facts above set forth are convincing proof that under the administration of President Taft genuine reforms in administration have been accomplished in bringing the government business to the most practical and economical basis in the interest of the whole people.

BELEHURST TRACT.

Thirty acres of the Thom ranch, north of Doran street and extending from Kenwood street on the west side to Geneva street on the east, has been subdivided and has been on the market about two weeks. By the recent annexation election this plot was brought into the city of Glendale.

Doran street, which now stops at Louise street, is to be opened through eastward along the south boundary of the tract with a probability that it will be extended all the way through to Verdugo road, making a very desirable improvement in the way of communication between Brand boulevard and the east side of Glendale. Kenwood street which now stops at First street, will also be opened north to upper boundary of the tract. The extension of these streets will in itself constitute an improvement of great value to this section of Glendale. Over twenty of the lots have been sold and of the purchasers it is said that nearly all contemplate building. The tract lies high with a good outlook over the city and the indications are that the lots will be disposed of in a comparatively short time.

An office has been opened on Brand boulevard and Doran street in charge of Mr. Sullivan.

A Scene Not on the Bill.
An amusing incident in the Royal Opera House at Warsaw, Russian Poland, is described by the Paris Temps. By permission of the commanding officer a number of Russian soldiers were engaged as "supers" to take the part of Spanish soldiers. No sooner had they come on the stage than they saw a general sitting in the stalls. The corporal with them immediately shouted, "Attention!" The soldiers stood at attention. The general, realizing that the men were not likely to move until he gave them the order, cried from the stalls, "All right, my children, all right!" The corporal advanced to the center of the stage and, gravely saluting, said, "We thank you, excellency, for permission to continue."

Insects in Flight.
Motion pictures of insects in flight prove that the movement of the wings of all insects presents the same general character. When flight is begun the amplitude of the first wing beats is much smaller than of the subsequent ones, but the period remains almost unchanged. The insect regulates the velocity of its flight, not by the rapidity of the motion of its wings, but by changing their inclination. Although in normal conditions the period of the wing beat remains constant, it may be increased or diminished by various influences, such as fatigue and cold.

Consolentious.
Weary Walker—No, ma'am. I ain't dirty from choice. I'm bound by honor. I wrote a testimonial for a soap-maker once and promised "to use no other." Mrs. Housekeeper—Well, why do you not use that? Weary Walker—Because, ma'am, that firm failed about five years ago.

Explained.
"Helgho!" sighed Mrs. Stoutly. "You used to sit once upon a time with your arm around my waist, John, but you never do it any more."
"I'm sorry, dear," replied Stoutly, "but there are some things that are beyond my reach."—Harper's.

BAUMGARDT'S LECTURE.

The people of Glendale do not often have an opportunity of enjoying as profitable an entertainment as is one of Mr. Baumgardt's lectures. He appeared at the high school Monday evening and lectured on Norway to an audience that filled about two-thirds of the seats in the auditorium. Mr. Baumgardt not only crowds his talks full of information, but presents his facts in a most attractive manner and the pictures used to illustrate his subject are of the best. He spoke briefly of the different characteristics of the people of Norway and Sweden, who although so close neighbors are very dissimilar. He paid a tribute to the wisdom of the leaders of affairs in Norway as particularly illustrated in their handling of the liquor problem. Forty years ago strong drink was a national curse, but today the problem has been solved so satisfactorily that drunkenness is unknown. His description of a Norway "saloon" was amusing as well as instructive. Passing on to a description of the natural features of the country, he presented many beautiful word pictures of its wealth of grandeur in mountains, waterfalls, streams and fjords, throwing pictures of them on the canvases as he spoke. The last picture was a representation of the "Midnight Sun" as it peeped up over the rim of the sea at midnight and sank again almost instantly into another day. Mr. Baumgardt starts soon upon a lecture tour throughout the East. If he comes to Glendale again he should be received by a crowded house. The high school boys deserve great credit for bringing here a lecturer of such high class.

DER-KISS TOILET WATER

Perfume Powder and Sachet, is the popular line of toilet requisites at Nesom's Drug Store.

Presbyterian Bungalow

Owing to the rapid growth of the primary department of the Presbyterian Sunday school, larger quarters became an absolute necessity. In response to an invitation by the pastor and trustees, twenty-two men gathered at the church on Monday and started the erection of a bungalow on the church lot, immediately in the rear of the church, but facing on Fourth street. It was hoped that the building could be finished in one day, but it proved too big a job. Satisfactory progress was made, however, and the building will be ready for use on Sunday.

The following men volunteered their services: J. E. Colvin, who acted as foreman; D. Melver, J. D. Porter, B. H. Nichols, D. Black, L. A. Boyce, A. Fairchild, J. McClellan, J. MacMillan, Mr. Hall, Mr. Redman, Mr. Ginn, Mr. Richman, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Proctor, Mr. Bishop, Mr. J. W. Fairchild, John Stauffacher, Jr., and a substitute furnished by Mr. J. W. Stauffacher of the Independent Lumber Co. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the church, Rev. E. H. Willisford, pastor of the Congregational church, Al. P. Harrison of the First National bank, and Mr. Logan Fairchild also wielded the hammer.

At the noon hour a chicken dinner was served by the teachers of the primary department under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Stauffacher, assisted by the following ladies: Mesdames Black, Harrison, Richman, Skiles, and Miss Leta McCoy.

The dimensions of the building are 26x40 feet. It will be divided into three rooms, one on each side of the entrance, each room to measure 12x14 feet, one for the use of the kindergarten and the other for the larger scholars who are candidates for promotion to the main school, the rest of the building to be used for the balance of the primary department.

Inspect San Jacinto's New Water System

The recent Water Discovery and Development at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto attracts outside attention. Engineers and Water Experts of three States seek data on Citizens Water Company's model plan of development. Conditions are pronounced exceptional, and system ideal, with phenomenal possibilities for further development.

Many new and interesting theories have been advanced, and proven in this development. Even the two narrow streaks of clay, called the Italian Wash and Indian Creek, which cross-cut the upper part of the valley (meaning little to the untrained eye), play an important part in creating the source of this immense water supply. For centuries these two little gullies have been pulling down the clay from the surrounding hills and depositing its putty-like formation, layer upon layer, along their entire course, slowly but surely building the great submerged dike or dam, sufficient in length and depth to retain the millions of inches of water that is today stored in the great subterranean lake, proven to exist above its wall. This great reservoir has existed for centuries, and will continue to exist for as many more. The outcropping of surface water, called the cienega, immediately above this dike, gave mute evidence of this impoundment, and supplied the incentive for its full exploitation.

The existence of this dike was proven by placing a series of test wells along its lower or west side. No perceptible water supply was obtainable at three hundred feet in these holes, while in a corresponding string of holes directly opposite to these, but above the dike, flowing water in unlimited quantities was obtained in every case within a few feet of the surface. Many hundreds of test holes were placed over an area of five square miles, with the same result as the latter, proving conclusively that this supply is not only inexhaustible, but that it is separate and distinct from other water supplies in the valley.

Miles of submerged pipe line, with perforations on top side, to admit the percolating waters, are already in commission, conveying the flow by gravity from every direction to the Company's immense head gates, or main lines of distribution.

We wish to state to our readers, especially those who are seeking locations, that this is truly an exceptional condition for this country, and can have but one meaning, unparalleled and continued prosperity for this beautiful little valley, and a snug fortune for all who are lucky enough to secure a share of its rare offerings at over double the price obtainable at this time. For further information address the San Jacinto Board of Trade, San Jacinto, Cal.

The game between Glendale and South Pasadena last Saturday resulted in a score of 9 to 3 in favor of Glendale. Bidwell was there with the goods and allowed but few scattered hits. Though weakened by the absence of Parrott, Askeland and Littell, the team played league ball throughout the game.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 24, Dr. John T. Miller of Los Angeles lectured to the pupils of the West Glendale school from the first to eighth grades, on the subject, "Character Building." He made his talk very plain to the smaller ones by drawings and illustrations of different kinds of people, some who stored away good thoughts in their minds, and others who were filled with bad thoughts showing the different expressions.

The pupils were greatly interested in his talk which was a great help to all. At 3 o'clock Dr. Miller gave a most worthy talk to a number of mothers and the teachers on the subject of "Applied Child Study," which he illustrated by means of charts and drawings. It was intensely interesting and both teachers and mothers went away with many a helpful idea. Dr. Miller is willing to come before the Parent-Teacher meeting at any time, and it is sincerely hoped that when he does come that every one who can will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing such a worthy man speak on subjects that are of such vital importance at the present time, and which are being brought before the public schools all over the country.

MUSICAL SUPERVISORS MEETING.

Mrs. Doris L. Gibson, supervisor of music in the high school, attended the meeting of the "Musical Supervisors of Los Angeles County," last Saturday in Los Angeles, and reports a very interesting time. At this meeting the discussion arose as to whether the Victrola should be used in the public schools for educational purposes, and a resolution was passed that the Victor machine was one of the many necessities of every school-room, both high and grammar schools. There are a great many already in use at the present time, but committees have been appointed to meet with the Parent-Teacher Association in schools where the Victrolas are not used and to use their influence in installing them. The musical instructors all claim that it will be of great benefit to the scholars.

HIGH SCHOOL

The American history class are planning a political campaign for the presidential election.

The gymnasium girls are working hard on their dances and drills for May Day, next Friday. The exercises will be given on the campus and all are invited to be present.

The Junior class gave a dance last Saturday evening at the K. of P. hall on Brand boulevard. A large crowd gathered and passed a merry evening.

The affair broke up at the usual hour.

The Baumgardt lecture which was given under the auspices of the Senior class Monday night, April 29th, was a decided success. The auditorium was comfortably filled and the audience spent a delightful evening traveling in imagination, through Norway.

Alma Turner, Ruth Browne, Edwin Sadler and Frank Littell composed the tennis team which played on the Hotel Maryland courts at Pasadena on Saturday, April 27, for the championship of the country.

The oratorical contest between the winners of five different high schools was held at Santa Ana last Friday night. Long Beach's representative was awarded first prize but Glendale won second place. Harold Story was the representative of Glendale high school and was presented with a silver medal.

Among the many entertainments given at the high school this year the Bonnell entertainments given under the auspices of the Junior class is expected to be the best ever offered to the public. The Juniors have worked hard to get an entertainment that will please all and they think they have succeeded. The entertainment is expected to be given some time in the near future, probably May 24.

Three girls from the senior English class, Marie Schwarze, Teizah Snell, and Ruth Pierce, gave a little play Monday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Each member of the senior English class was discussed in a very clever way. The play was gotten up by these girls for the benefit of this class alone, but as the Sophomore and Junior English classes were also invited, it was largely attended and proved to be a great success.

PUSH—DON'T KNOCK!
Upon the door I saw a sign; I cried, "A motto! And it's mine!"
A wiser thing I never saw.
No Median or Persian law Should be more rigidly enforced Than this—from verbiage divorced, Its logic, firm as any rock—
"Push—Don't knock!"

"Twas simply meant to guide the hand Of those who wished to sit or stand Within the assuming door.
Where point of civil custom bore.
"Twas never meant to teach or preach But just to place in easy reach The ear of one who dealt in stocks;
"Push—Don't knock!"

But what a guide for life was that!
Strong, philosophical and pat!
How safe a chart for you and me While cruising o'er life's restless sea!
Push, always Push, with goal in view Don't knock—avoid the hammer crew!
This rule will save you many a shock.
"Push—Don't knock!"

When on a door I see that sign, I say, "Great motto, you are mine!"
No stronger sermon ever fell From human lips. No sage can tell The heedful youth more nearly how To point, always, his vessel's prow; There are no wiser words in stock:
"Push—Don't knock!"

The Verdugo Pipe and Reservoir has been lowering its pipe line along Verdugo road during the past week to conform to the grade required by the improvement of that thoroughfare. #### AN INTERESTING FIND.

A Wells Fargo Money Order Over Fifty-nine Years Old.

One day last week Mrs. L. M. Appleby of Riverdale drive had occasion to look over some old books that had been stored in a box not recently opened. Among these volumes was an old family Bible, and in looking through it Mrs. Appleby discovered a paper which appeared to be of value. Opening it, he was astonished to discover that it was a Wells Fargo money order issued at Coloma, Cal., in 1853, payable to her, and sent to her in New York evidently by her husband, who was a forty-niner who came across the plains with an ox team. There was no evidence on the order showing that it had ever been paid, and the ink in which it was written was apparently as fresh as if the writing was of recent date. It was evidently one of the early orders issued by the express company, which had not been long in existence. Coloma, it will be remembered, was near the place where Marshall discovered gold, and at the date when the order was issued was a place of considerable importance. Mrs. Appleby has not yet tried to cash the order.
